DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

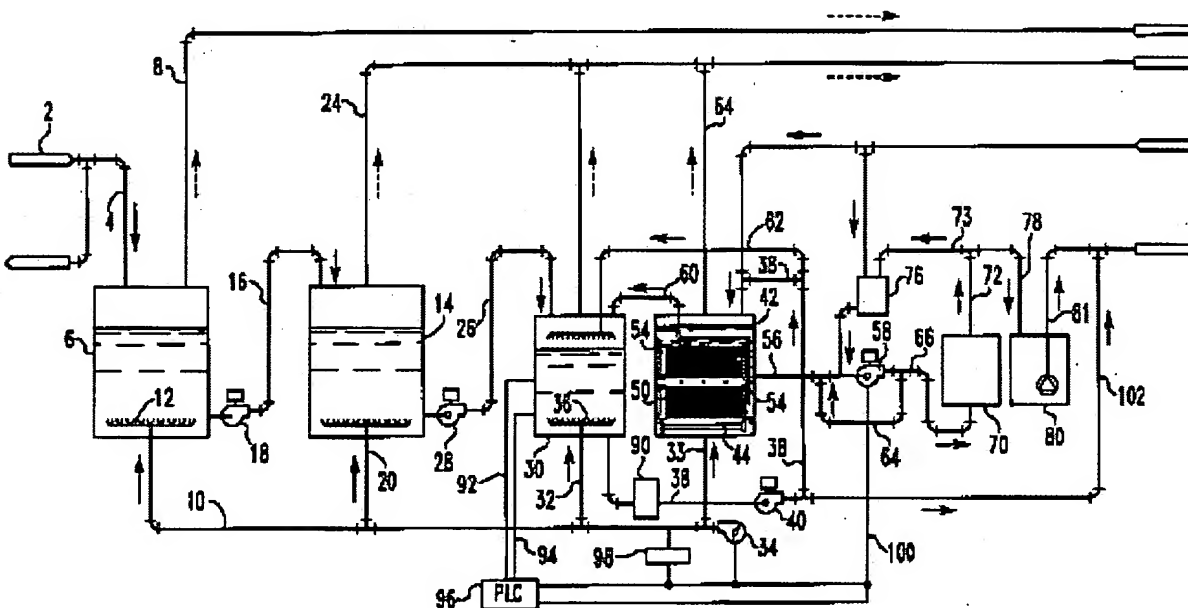

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-5 and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Husain et al. (U.S. 6,361,695).

Art Unit: 1723

Husain teaches a system for treating greywater and sewage onboard a marine vessel. Collection tank 6 is a means for receiving, holding and treating wastewater¹ which includes air diffusers 40 and grinder pumps 68. Plumbing means are provided (81) for dumping the clean effluent and are provided (102) for dumping the excess sludge to a sump (col. 11, lines 23-25). Control means 96 is used to operate the system in different modes (col. 9, lines 52-63; col. 11, lines 40-55; and col. 12, lines 13-63) [as in claim 1]. The system includes a bioreactor means including a tank having membrane modules and diffusers therein; and aeration means for scouring surfaces of the membranes (figure 2) and a permeate outlet 56 [as in claims 5 and 7]. Plumbing means 60 are also provided for concentrating the sludge as desired [as in claims 2 and 8]. Ultraviolet treatment means 70 are also provided [as in claim 4]. Wastewater feed connecting means (2 + 4) that enable the collecting and hold is also taught [as in claim 3].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

¹ The equivalent structure of this "means for" limitation in applicant's specification is feed tank 50 and treatment means diffuser 40 and/or grinding pumps 68.

Art Unit: 1723

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Husain in view of Wang et al. (U.S. 5,275,732).

FIG. 1A

Husain includes venting 64, 8, 24, etc. from the tanks but not the collection of foam from the tank and feedback thereof to the bioreactor. However, such is taught by Wang. Wang teaches a vent including foam collection tank 121 and recycle via 126 to the bioreactor [as in claim 6]. It is considered that it would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art at the time of the invention to have the foam collection/recycle means of Wang in the invention of Husain, since Wang teaches the benefit of treating effluents that discharge into the air.

Drawings

5. The drawings are objected to because they include non-uniform lines and lettering and appear to be informal.
